sohaila walid

GRAPHIC DESIGNER, FRONTEND DEVELOPER

ABOUT ME

I am a 19-year-old student at Cairo University, studying Computer Science. Alongside my studies, I work as a graphic designer and front-end developer, which allows me to combine both design and programming. I have experience with languages such as C++, Python, HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. Fluent in English, I have developed strong creative thinking skills through various design projects and building interactive websites and applications. My unique ability to blend design aesthetics with technical development enables me to approach problems in innovative ways and deliver user-friendly solutions.
